Autumn Festival

Throughout the world, in all civilizations, there are celebrations reflecting nature’s rhythms, and important seasonal transitions in the life of the culture. These festivals are celebrated as a means to sustain and renew ourselves. For many people today, whose increasingly busy lives can make them unaware of the changing of the seasons, festivals provide an opportunity to reconnect with the cycles of the earth and the soul nurturing they provide.

The Autumn Festival at Mornington Park Primary School was a wonderful celebration, with storytelling, making of corn dolls, bobbing for apples – with a difference, popcorn threading and singing.

Staff, students and parents all worked very hard to make this a day to remember.

Autumn Festival

On Friday 22nd of March, the Steiner Stream at Mornington Park Primary School, had their Autumn festival. It started in our classroom where Mango read an autumn story about St Micheal and how he defeated a dragon.

Halfway through the story our class sang a song about St Michael.

When the story was finished we were divided into groups. I was in Lizzy's group where we made fairy wands.

After lunch the class six students went to different groups to help in a variety of activities. I was in an activity with Oli, making corn dolls. It was really fun helping the little kids with their own dolls.

I really enjoyed the Autumn festival and it is sad that I won't be there to do it next year.

Easter Bonnet Parade!

At Mornington Park we have had many reasons for celebration during Term One.

The Easter Bonnet Parade on the last day of term was an exciting one for students (and many parents!)

The judges had a difficult time choosing those to receive prizes, as everyone had put so much thought and effort into their creations.

Here are just a few to share with you.
